Wetaskiwin Three-Day Community Sale - Dec. 7-8-9

CITY WILL BE DECORATED FOR COMMUNITY SALE

His Worship the Mayor and all Aldermen excepting Ald. Brown were in attendance at the Council meeting Tuesday evening.

D. MacEachern was given permission to move the Baldry building which he had purchased north across the city lot to Lorne street.

A proposal from Mr. Newby about the payment of taxes on property he proposed purchasing was referred to the finance committee.

Meers, Curt Smith, N. Oswald and K. Orr, were present as a delegation from the Business Men's Association asking that the streets be suitably decorated and illuminated for the Three-Day Community Sale to be held on December 7-8-9.

The estimated cost is $135.00, with a minimum charge of $5.00 for the current week.

The public works committee, with Ald. Grant, were authorized to expend up to $135.00 for this purpose.

The auditor's report on the city's books up to October 31st was received and filed.

Building permits were issued to C. Wiedrich for a barn and to E. P. Jackson for a stable.

The letter from the Salvation Army asking for a donation, was laid on the table for the attention of next year's council.

The offer of R. Gooderich and E. Sautter to purchase two lots for a chicken ranch was declined.

The offer of Mr. Christianson to purchase a lot on Dufferin street for $25.00 was accepted.

Accounts to the amount of $678.50 were passed for payment.

Ald. Ebnan reported that D. Scheske was carrying on the work of Cecil Murphy, the foreman, and that L. Wain was looking after the sewer pump and gas well.

The Mayor reported that the gas well was delivering 40,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

The police committee recommended that the services of J. Redman be retained as policeman.

A by-law appointing J. E. Fraser as returning officer for the ensuing elections was read three times and passed.

After discussion the Council agreed that the annual ratepayers' meeting be held in the basement of the Driford Hotel on the evening of December 7th.

Meeting adjourned.

PLAINTIFF AWARDED DAMAGES AS RESULT OF PRAIRIE FIRE

At the sittings of the District Court held last week, the most important case disposed of was the case of Matuma vs. Shefro. The parties reside in the Duck Lake district and the plaintiff's action was for damages caused by a fire in the spring of 1931. The defendant set out a fire in connection with clearing some land. The fire was driven by a wind to the plaintiff's quarter section, and swept across the entire farm. Some fence was burned up, and damage was done to the soil of the plaintiff's farm, and a grove of trees was also destroyed. The buildings were saved with some difficulty. The plaintiff was awarded $430.00 damages and costs.

C. H. Russell for the plaintiff, L. E. Howatt, K.C., and B. D. Howatt for the defendant.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

At a meeting of the L.O.B.A. on Thursday evening the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Treas.—Sister Kolb
1st Lect.—Sister Portliss
2nd Lect.—Sister Lohndorf
D. of C.—Sister Stanley
I.G.—Sister Roulston
O.G.—Sister Craig
2nd Comm.—Sister Gowers

Newly inaugurated Canadian standard grades for eggs were introduced in Edmonton, with satisfactory results.

Weddings

WINE—SHAVE

Congratulations are in order for two of Wetaskiwin's younger set celebrating their nuptials. In the persons of Mr. Daniel Wing and Miss Queenie Shave. The wedding took place at the United Church Manse Saturday morning; the ceremony being read by Rev. A. R. Schrag. Immediate relatives of both contracting parties were present, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Drolet supported the couple and signed the register as witnesses. The bride was most becomingly attired in a travelling suit of brown with throw of fox and bearing a lovely bouquet of roses. After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Wing will take up their residence in Wetaskiwin.

LIBRARY NOTES

The Carnegie International Mind Alocve is proving a great attraction to the members of the Library. Among the books you will find "Portugal for Two" by Lawton Maclellan. A freshly original travel story, written in the tempo of today and animated with the thrill of continuous unexpectedness; romantic old castles, peasants who still wear picturesque costumes without realizing that they are picturesque, superb gardens, attending a bullfight in the company of an old doreador, magnificent Gothic abbeys. Bithmeson travel experiences and impressions, in an Eden which tourists are only just discovering.

"Romantic Czechoslovakia" by Robert Medill McBride. The creation of the Czechoslovak Republic scarcely a dozen years ago by a people who had been enslaved for centuries is one of the epics of modern history. The author has written the first comprehensive account of the towns and people of this youthful state, which stretches across Central Europe. From Prague, the capital city in the west, the long Carpathians in the east, he takes his readers on a fascinating journey of discovery and rediscovery.

Interesting new book for the boys and girls include "Black Wings" by Captain Michael Cely. A thrilling tale of adventure in the air. The "Nomad," a new type of aeroplane, sets out to fly around the world in six days. On the way its crew accidentally discover a fleet of giant, black winged amphibian planes, whose purpose is to terrorize the world by means of a deadly gas. They are destroyed after an epic battle in the air, and other thrilling adventures of the world-flight, are told with breathless interest and convincing realism.

"Mrs. Kind Bush" by Edith Howes. It tells of the happy experience of Mrs. Kind Bush's friends, the Elves and Gnomes, and two children, Nancy, next-door and Wimpsey the Wanderer, in the sweet sunny days and the soft starry nights.

"Doctor Dollittle's Return" by H. Lofting. For a long time Dr. Dollittle's friends and followers have been watching the moon where he has been living, for a sign of his return. At last, just after an eclipse they see the Doctor's smoke signal. Imagine their astonishment when they see the Doctor come riding into his garden on an enormous leucist.

"The Wizard of Oz," by Frank Baum; "The Two Dorothys," by Mrs. Herbert Martin; "Camp Fire Boys" by Oliver Lee Clifford, make a delightful galaxy of new books to meet the wishes of the children.

WELFARE LEAGUE FUND

Remember, we have opened a fund for the work of the Welfare League and will be pleased to receive any cash donations to this very worthy cause. All donations will be acknowledged in the columns of The Times. Many pathetic calls for assistance have been received and it would appear that the need for assistance is as great, or even greater, than it was a year ago. It is urged that early contributions be made.

Three Days With Wetaskiwin Merchants

The Wetaskiwin merchants have arranged three big days of merchandising, and the dates selected are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 7th, 8th and 9th.

For these days the merchants are making special preparations. Their announcements will appear next week in a Special Issue of The Times. There will be news of the greatest importance to the purchasing public.

In announcing this co-operative effort on the part of the merchants, it is very gratifying to know that the merchants have come to finally realize the responsible position they occupy in our community. Through personal knowledge we have felt that our stores in Wetaskiwin should be able to look after all the wants of our residents, but were not doing so because the people did not really know our business places. This effort will be to acquaint every resident of the community with the stores of our city. In order to do this, Special Bargains are being offered and prizes are being given to make it worth your while to come to this Special Three-Day Shopping Festival. Watch for the Special Issue of this paper next week. Finally, may we suggest, is it not reasonable to assume that your local merchant, catering to your wants year in and year out, is more likely to have the goods you want, than the out-of-town store. Besides, you will be able to see the article you need, choose it from that merchant's stock, knowing full well that the dealer selling you that article must stand behind it, if he wishes to keep your trade.

From a real personal viewpoint we commend this effort, and suggest that everyone take advantage of it to the full—for this reason: Every dollar spent in our district, goes a long way to helping every section of it and today town and country should in fact must, co-operate for mutual success.

Be sure and read next week's Special Issue of The Times. It will mean money in your pocket.

SHIP AHOY!

Tuesday evening was parents' night at the United Church Young People's meeting. A number of parents sat on the floor and the R.L.R. crew on the larboard side of the lower deck of the good ship K.L.R. at the ringing of eight bells. With a "Heave ho" we put to sea for a social and business trip. The business session was carried on in our regular style. A varied and interesting program was conducted by the crew in ship-shape style. During the course of the evening the parents engaged in a short contest, the award going to Mr. MacAllister. The sea supper of clam chowder was served in good order. The voyage came to a happy ending with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Edmonton city council decided to place contracts for the supply of 15,000 tons of coal for relief purposes to nine mines. Insistence upon fair wage rates for the miners will mean an extra cost of $7,500, one-third payable by the city.

DOLL CONTEST

Who will be the first girl to win a handsome doll in The Times' doll contest? For particulars see the announcement on page seven of this issue. The conditions are very simple. Enter your name by letter, or phone and a receipt book will be sent you. Ten yearly subscriptions to The Times, either renewals or new subscribers, will win the doll. Here is an excellent way to win a handsome doll, twenty-seven inches long, before Christmas.

PROPHYLACTIC MEDICINE SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Obituary

MRS. EDWARD FULK

There passed away in the Community hospital on Wednesday morning, Gertrude, beloved wife of Mr. Edward Fulk, at the age of forty-one years and six months. The family arrived about eight years ago and located on a farm south of Wynne, and since that time the deceased has been a highly esteemed resident of that community.

She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, one daughter, one son, her father, Mr. Frank Grove of Billings, Mont., and four sisters and two brothers, who reside in different parts of the United States.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon, service being at the Salvation Army chapel at one p.m. The interment will be in the Wetaskiwin cemetery.

ELVINA TOST

Accidentally shot in the abdomen by a .22 bullet from a rifle held by her brother, Ernest, 11, Elvina Tost, 5, died at her home south-east of Wetaskiwin Saturday. Death came within two hours after the accident.

Reminded by his grandfather to empty the shells from his rifle, the boy expelled two shells from the magazine, closed it, and then pulled the trigger. There was a shell in the breech and the bullet hit the girl in the abdomen as she ran around the corner of the house.

Constable Crouch and the coroner, Dr. A. S. McColgan, arrived just before the girl died.

Eric Tost, the father, was away hunting at the time and the mother, at the time of the tragedy, was in Wetaskiwin.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, service being conducted in the German Lutheran church, Wetaskiwin, by Rev. A. Appell, and the interment was in the Wetaskiwin cemetery. A large number of friends were present to express their sympathy and the floral tributes were very numerous.

QUESTIONS ASKED AT U.F.A. CONVENTION

"What is there in all these activities of the U.F.A.?" asked Norman F. Priestly, vice-president, in addressing the Provincial Constituency Convention at Wetaskiwin, on Nov. 12th. What is it that makes our M.P.'s and M.L.A.'s carry on early and late, as well as the rank and file of the U.F.A. movement?

It is a higher standard of living and better chance for the coming generation and the will to do, that will carry us through.

He said that since we were given a mandate in 1930, Provincial Convention set up a co-operative organization that would still function in case of a complete collapse of our financial system.

Asked a question, he told us about the agreement with the B.C. fruit growers, and with various manufacturers and foreign countries. We must live in the realm of facts and science and not in idealism and imagination.

He spoke of the Douglas system of finance. Our Federal members have been studying this system since 1921 and I, myself, for the last six years. Major Douglas has been studying finance for a good many years, and came over from England in 1921 to give evidence before Parliament, when it considered the revision of the Bank Act in that year.—Con.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of the Wetaskiwin Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Liversidge on Thursday, November 30th, at three o'clock. The program will be in charge of Mrs. J. A. Rodell and Mrs. P. Greiner will be the speaker, giving a description of her visit to the Century of Progress Exhibition, Chicago.

Kiwanas Dr. Frank Rossiter gave a very enlightening address at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club on Tuesday evening, taking as his subject Prophylactic Medicine. He stated that disease cannot be prevented, but the people can go a long way to that end. He referred to the achievements of the great scientist Louis Pasteur, who found by research work that fermentation was caused by germs. He also found the germ that was destroying the silk industry, as well as the cause of hydrophobia in dogs. There is a reaction when the germ gets into the human body. Some persons are immune to certain diseases; others require something to stimulate the elements in the body, while others require something to combat the inroads of the disease. Vaccination, which was introduced by a man named Jenner in 1759, has gone a long way towards preventing certain diseases, such as smallpox, typhoid fever and diphtheria. Vaccine is so carefully made today that there is no danger of transmitting diseases. The doctor also referred very interestingly to the experiments made with anti-toxins. When a person is ailing it is important that there be an early and correct diagnosis, proper and sufficient treatment, and co-operation between the people and the doctors.

A committee, composed of past presidents was named to recommend a slate of officers for the ensuing year.

Town Topics

Mrs. D. Ross of Mountain Park, spent the week-end in town renewing acquaintances.

The weather has been quite spring-like during the past week and several of the enthusiasts have had games of golf.

Mrs. R. B. Walt and Mr. and Mrs. C. Miller of Edmonton, left this week for California by motor, where they will spend the winter.

Cecil Murphy, who was burned by the explosion of gas recently, is improving nicely in the Community hospital, but it may be a few days before he is able to return home.

J. J. Borshet of Duhamel, who has made his home with Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Widen for the past six years, left Tuesday for Vancouver for an indefinite stay with his daughter, Mrs. P. Johnson.

Mrs. James Vickers had the misfortune to have her left hand caught between the rollers of a wringer on Monday and the fingers were badly mashed, but it is not thought any bones were broken.

W. C. Burke met with a painful accident on Sunday last at Pigeon Lake closing the cottage for the season. The ladder on which he was going onto the roof broke and he fell he fractured a bone in his ankle.

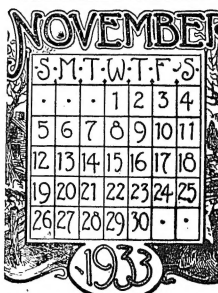

The bazaar and supper held in the Elks' Hall on Saturday last by the Women's Association of the United church, was another very gratifying success. Over $650.00 were realized as a result of the efforts of the ladies.

While Ald. Brown was approaching the high level bridge in Edmonton on Tuesday, the car skidded on the slippery pavement, and both wheels hit the curb. Considerable damage was done to the car and both Mr. and Mrs. Brown were shaken up but not seriously injured.

LADY CURLERS TO MEET

The Ladies' Curling Club will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Chiddy on Wednesday evening, Nov. 29th, at 8 o'clock. All those interested in curling are urged to be present.

Ten cars of livestock, loaded at various points in the province, were shipped east for the royal winter fair in Toronto. Grain exhibits will be fewer this year, numbering 27 from the Edmonton district.

Old-Fashioned Morals and "Outworn" Ethics Not Yet Fantastic Idea

For some months past America has experienced a hallstorm of extraordinary disclosures—revelations of conduct so flagrantly unethical, so fantastically far-reaching, that no fiction writer would have dared to invent it. Not one, but a legion of the country's most prominent men stand revealed as having been utterly callous to the dictates of honor—or even the simplest forms of honesty, states Helen Bryant, writing in The Aryan Path, Bombay. Great bankers, great industrialists, great officials, we discover, can be nothing more nor less than great rascals. Of course, anyone who has owned property, or who has sought a job of any importance, has been well aware for years of the prevalence of graft and favoritism, but how a complete flight from ethics this country is embarked upon we are only just beginning to realize.

The men involved in these recent disclosures do not regard themselves as lawbreakers. They have only "done what everyone else has done." Everyone has evaded income tax, accepted bribes—or given them, with no stigma attached. This means that our whole conception of honor has been changed. We have revised not only our tempo, but our temper, to our discredit—and now to our dismay.

This began to happen, I think, when our controlling class changed from gentlemen to business men. The sense of honor—often narrow and distorted, but possessed of a valuable rigidity—of a lady or gentleman, waned with the waning of the species, to be replaced with the more flexible and dubious code of business. This code, we see now, was the code of the horse ideal—the more successfully one cheated the more successfully one cheated the more one's pride in the achievement. Meanwhile the great class of the "poor but proud," who were moral partly because they were religious and partly because they tried to copy the code of their "betters," became less proudly honest as they became less religious and less poor, and as their models changed. They made the successful business man their god, and reached his estate as fast as they could. This emulation of the controlling class was the first process that sapped the morale of the working class. Then came economic stress clamping a stranglehold upon them, and shattering the loyalties and honesties that had been rendered fragile. Any landlord will tell you that in these times it is the rare tenant who considers his lease binding should he meet with even a slight financial mishap. Any gas or telephone or electric bill collector will tell you that the last bills of the tenant's year when he changes to another apartment are almost uncollectable. Any employee will tell you that in the struggle to hold jobs, even "nice" people will fight metaphorically tooth and nail. And today a third factor is breaking down the few who have withstood temptation and misfortune—this recent enlightenment as to the complete lack of honor of the rich. "Anyone who has played fair has just been a sap," is the general verdict. "An honest man hasn't a chance. The system's rotten all through—"

Rotten all through. That's how it seems. As business spreads its tentacles around government, art and even friendship, imperviousness to ethical procedure spread with it. Graft corrupted government, bribery and favoritism corrupted art; self-interest murdered altruism, selfishness, sympathy and all the spiritual progeny of human intercourse. Even the flourishing practice of generosity and hospitality drew its say, in those pre-retribution days, from poisoned soil.

But there is still one class unaccounted for—the thinkers, the intellectuals. In the last analysis, ethical conduct is rational conduct—shall we not, therefore, still find a stronghold of ethics among those who really think?

The answer is still doubtful, but it promises very soon to be negative. For the intellectuals also are on the verge, after deliberately weighing pros and cons, of discarding honor. They have been disheartened in two ways. First by the difficulty of maintaining themselves ethically in a commercially corrupted world. "What steps should one take to get a teaching job at such-and-such a university?" I heard one ask. "One gets to know someone of importance there, I am sorry to say," was the answer. And after certain revelations of "managed" criticism and publicity in the book world, the general conclusion was: "Recognition of reality good work cannot be won on the merits of that work alone." Recognition can hardly ever be won by strictly honorable methods. We live in a jungle and must fight with jungle weapons. There is no room for honor in modern life." Second, the intellectual is disheartened by the seeming impossibility of reforming the capitalist world through non-violent means, owing to capitalist control of key positions. Therefore, he is becoming more and more inclined to advocate throwing away old-fashioned notions of what is "right," and using any means to bring about a needed change. If he is very radical indeed, he will maintain that it is legitimate to lie and cheat and further the cause."

This desertion of ethics by the intellectuals is doubly regrettable because they have suddenly become much more powerful in our national life. Having plunged downhill into chaos we are now turning more and more to the intellectuals and asking them to tell us how to get out. If they see no ethical way out and no good reason for clinging to and reinforcing our splintered standards of honor, the future bids fair to be even more chaotic than the present.

Meanwhile, something has to be done. One proposal is to change the system completely. The second call for the modification of the present system. The first procedure would be exceedingly painful, involving the whole generations in misery. The second might be temporarily less painful, but in the end it will be disastrous because—as the man in the street declares—the intellectual tends to agree—the system is "too rotten" to modify.

Whichever proposal is finally adopted, success it seems to me will depend, not so much on the choice, or even on the cleverness of the new mechanisms set up, as on the principles of the men who devise, operate and obey them. A communist system can be fatally clogged by bureaucracy and sabotage, a capitalist system can be ruined by greed. There are other factors, of course. I do believe that a great deal depends on the system, and that a capitalist democracy still offers—with its regards for individual rights and its machinery for bringing wrongdoing to light—more opportunity for happiness and sane human development than the communist system with its denial of the individual and its autocracy. But the system alone cannot do everything. More than a change of system, we need a change of heart. We need all of us to believe again in "being good."

"Royal Scot" in Rugged Setting

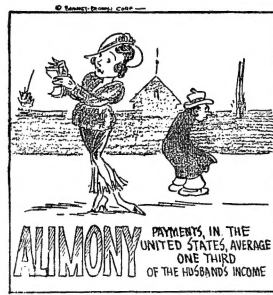

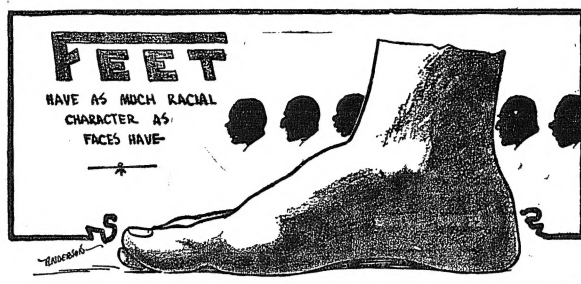

Puffing her way along the tumbling Fraser canyon over roaring trestles and through cavernous tunnels, the "Royal Scot" is shown here as she approached North Bend, B.C., at the start of her crossing of the Canadian Rockies over the scenic main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The London, Midland &

Scottish flyer accomplished the Rockies crossing without benefit of "pusher" power and entirely under her own steam, thus writing another achievement into the record of her Canadian and American tour. The rugged nature of the mountains along the C.P.R. line near North Bend, with the Fraser River rushing through its rocky caverns to the Pacific, shows the kind of country this famous British train conquered on her history-making trip over the Canadian Pacific. Canadians continued to give the Royal Scot a warm-hearted welcome. Western Canadian cities turned out almost en masse to cheer and examine the visitor from the Mother land.

Pimples Not Dangerous But Very Embarrassing

Pimples are caused by the blood being in an impure condition, but there is a simple way to get rid of them by giving the blood a thorough cleansing by the use of Burdock Blood Purifiers.

Mr. Wm. Fraser, Thorburn, N.S., writes: "I was greatly troubled with pimples on my face. I used ointments and salves, but they did no good. I took one bottle of Burdock Blood Purifiers and the result was so satisfactory I can recommend B. B. P. at all times."

HOW IT IS DONE

Every once in a while some cheerful individual remarks to us: "Well, now that the paper is out, I suppose you can take it easy for three or four days."

Yes, how delightful it is that a country editor has nothing to do between press days. Business runs along automatically. When pay-bills come due money drops off the trees with which to pay them. Subscribers vie with each other to see who can pay the farthest in advance. Advertisers just beg for additional space, and the way news hunts up the editor is also pleasant to contemplate.

There is something strange about the way news items act. When the paper is out, the editor slumps back in his chair, looking wise and waiting for next week's press day. The day before press days, people line up before the office door, and then file in past the desk and tell him all the news of the week. He writes it up in 15 or 20 minutes, takes it back and hangs it on the hook. The compositor takes the copy and shakes it over the type case, says a few mystic words, the type flies into place, and after a few passes by the foreman, the forms are ready for the press again. And the editor goes down and deposits some more money in the bank.

It is the greatest snap in the catalogue.—Blairmore Enterprise.

Outdoor affairs have gone out with the falling of the last leaves and only the most persistent of gifts are still following that enticing agent. Soon snow will put an end to their enthusiasm and we will all be packing our brains for amusements that will interest us through the long winter to which this climate sentences us.

That sounds as though winter had no compensations for the loss of summer and early fall sports, but, of course, it has. Although we cannot enjoy the old fashioned sleigh ride party which has long been consigned to the limbo of the past, skating is becoming more and more popular. Then dancing will never be in the discard for old or young—who cannot play cards, the oldest standby?

Bridge Fascinating

Bridge is not the complicated game it used to be and with the right partner it is very fascinating. Moreover, tables served are of the highest—coffee and cake or sandwiches, lemonade and cookies, a salad and wafers or ice cream and cake, make the most appropriate refreshments. I have had ginger ale and crackers after an evening at cards.

Usually a dish of nuts or small candies stand on the card table.

Expensive prizes are also taboo. Handkerchiefs, decks of cards, score pads and such are given in place of former expensive articles.

Candy Dish

A cut little colored glass dish with a frog to hold flowers, filled with small gum drops in a variety of colors was the prize at a bridge party I attended. When empty of candy and artificial flowers stuck in the frog, it was an attractive flower holder.

RECIPES

Squash Pie Filling
2½ cups sliced cooked squash
½ cup of sugar
2 eggs
1 cup of milk
1 teaspoonful of salt
1 teaspoonful cinnamon
¼ teaspoonful of ginger
Mix and fill pan lined with uncooked crust and bake.

Do You Know That:

2. A new rug ought to be cleaned only with a broom for at least six months?
3. Heavy pieces of furniture ought not to stand on five rugs because the marks left by them are almost impossible to eradicate?
4. A little vinegar in the water in which eggs are boiled will prevent the whites from leaking out?
5. You should always scrub metal fittings with a stiff brush in laundering?
6. Ivory piano keys are kept white by cleaning with alcohol?

AN EARTHLY PARADISE

Situated in the South Seas there is an earthly paradise—Solomon Islands.

According to the colonial report on this British protectorate, the 92,000 natives of the Solomon Isles have not a worry in the world.

They have no banks, no public debt and no factories. They have no concern with the cost of living.

Every employer of native labor is compelled by government regulations to provide adequate rations, soap, salt, bedding, tobacco and clothing for the laborer, his wife and children.

Minimum rates of wages—$50 a year for the male adult—are also fixed.

There is no land hunger. Every native has ample ground for the support of his family.

He grows yams, sweet potatoes, and other vegetables for his own needs.

(By Dr. William J. Scholes)

WHY IS THE APPENDIX?

The appendix is located at the junction of the large and small intestine and is from two to three inches long, and ¼ to ½ inch in diameter. It has a narrow canal which communicates with the intestine at one extremity and ends blindly at the other, like an elongated sack.

The "Function" of the Appendix. What its function is has never been conclusively demonstrated. Not only that, but it is highly improbable in the writer's opinion that it has any function.

One theory has been that the appendix secretes a fluid which has to do with the digestion of egg albumin. But the fact that its canal closes in most persons after the age of forty and they still eat eggs makes this theory unsound. Furthermore, people live on after surgical removal of the appendix, indicating that it serves no vital purpose.

It may be the remains of a structure that is gradually becoming extinct because changes in our mode of living makes it no longer a necessary part of the body economy. Rabbits have a structure nearly twelve inches long that corresponds to the human appendix.

Again, it may be nothing but a remnant of embryonic life, during which it might have a function which becomes obsolete after birth. Such a situation exists in other parts of the body. For example, the heart during fetal life has an opening which connects its two sides, which closes immediately after birth.

Inflammation of the Appendix—Appendicitis

The old-time cases of inflammation of the bowels were nothing more, nor less than appendicitis. Inflammation of the appendix becomes serious when its opening into the intestine becomes clogged and infectious matter is unable to find an exit. So long as drainage exists nothing can happen. The moment the opening closes as a result of thickening of the lining (trouble begins). The gravity of the situation depends on the severity of the inflammation, the type of the infection and the reaction to it, and the degree of circumscription of the process.

If, the inflammation subsides within twenty-four hours, the opening of the appendix is restored and drainage into the gut re-established. If the infection is promptly met by an increase in phagocytes (the white blood cells that destroy germs) it is overpowered. If a wall of adhesion is built up around the appendix spread of the inflammatory process is prevented.

Prevention and Treatment of Appendicitis

There is no denying that thousands of needless appendix operations have been performed. It is likewise true that many patients have refused operative interference that was necessary. The proper program in every case lies between these extremes. An intelligent patient and a conscientious physician will always find it—Copyright.

WHAT WAR MEANS

In a signed article in the London Sunday Chronicle, the Earl of Halsbury, K.C., says that the idea is abroad that a future war must inevitably be waged on the same lines as the last. "The only certain thing," he writes, "about any future war, no matter when it comes, is that it will be a war of munitions and not of armies. Nor even of fleets, which, to my mind, are doomed as fighting weapons."

The munitions, too, will have terrible potentialities. "It will," says Lord Halsbury, "be a war with a general staff of chemists." The war will be made upon entire populations, not upon armies in uniform. The aim of each combatant will be to destroy munition factories, chemical plants, and this would involve destruction of civilian men, women and children. Lord Halsbury put this forward:

"Visualize for a moment the vulnerability of London. Consider a rectangle extending from Tottenham on the north to Wimbledon in the south and from Richmond on the west to Haringey Creek on the east.

"Assuming the ideal condition of every molecule of gas being put in precisely the position the attacking force desired only forty tons of gas would be necessary to place the whole of that rectangular area under a lethal atmosphere to a depth of thirty feet.

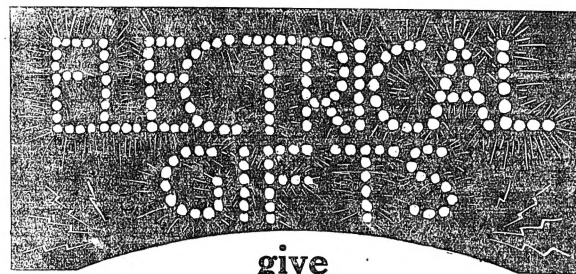

"Modern bombers carry several tons. So do commercial aircraft, which could be converted at the shortest notice into military machines.

"It is a matter of simple arithmetic to ascertain how many enemy aircraft would be needed to obliterate the whole of London and its population."

It is a fact well known that many competent calculators have worked out this sum. Yesterday dispatches from Paris told of the discovery of a new poison gas there which is the most destructive ever heard of—against it no gas mask would be of any use, for even if not breathed a touch of it destroys the human body. Other nations have as deadly a dew as that of France, producing results like those at the battle of Semmerich, when "the angel of death spread his wings on the blast and breathed in the face of the foe as he passed."

In a speech in the House of Lords when this subject was discussed, Lord Rayleigh said that the only solution that he could see would be the evacuation of London immediately on the outbreak of war. He omitted, as Lord Halsbury points out, to suggest where a population of seven millions were to be fed or where their water and sewage arrangements were to be provided. To this might be added the fact that no time could be counted upon in which to leave London or any other city it was planned to attack. A Russian engineer suggests that all present cities be destroyed and rebuilt with gas-proof buildings. Another proposal is that every city should have a second city underground.

Would it not be better to dispense with war? Would not mankind be wiser to do this, even if mankind had to endure the opprobrium of being called pacifists? Lord Halsbury's purpose in writing his article—and ours in quoting and commenting on it—is to do something to acquaint heedless millions of people with the ghastly fate that awaits them should another war come. Until the people at large realize the appalling fate which another war would bring there cannot

Comfort - Convenience - Time - Pleasure Gifts That Will Count—Tomorrow

In the month of December, fifty-four years ago, Thomas A. Edison gave his first public demonstration of lighting with incandescent lamps. Special trains were run to Menlo Park, New Jersey, to take care of the crowds which wanted to see this wonderful new light. No one man has ever given so wonderful a Christmas gift.

The Spirit of Christmas is Centered in the home, and now while you're pondering over gift problems, there are scores of Electrical Appliances in your dealer's showroom which are not only ornamental but will be just as useful many years from now as they are when given on Christmas morning. And they'll be the most popular gifts in the neighborhood on the morning after.

There is an Electrical Gift for the home to suit every purse and nearly every purpose from a Refrigerator, Range or Radio, to a variety of smaller appliances, any one of which your dealer will cheerfully demonstrate for you.

RULES OF THE ROAD

In the tragic bus accident occurring recently near High River, one dominating thought, occurring to most people, was that travel on the highway is much too hazardous for the public. Without any violation of the current rules of the road, it was possible for this terrible tragedy to occur.

The motor problem as relating to rights of private cars, buses and trucks has developed rapidly, and so far, regulations have not kept pace with the congestion of travel.

This brings up again, the rigid rules that restrict railroad operation in contrast with buses and trucks. The railways, confined to their right of way, have only highly trained officials in charge. These officials are also highly paid, in keeping with their responsibilities.

On the highway there is an appalling congestion of traffic. There are the family cars of the taxpayers, who primarily, have built the roads. Then there are the company buses, operating on the time-saving schedules desired by the travelling public. Added to these are an infinity of trucks, large and small, many of them formidable and dangerous to meet. It is not the privately-owned car of the taxpayer that takes right of way, but these huge vans, trucks and buses. They are as a rule high-powered and fast moving, regarding their lesser brethren with no great courtesy and certainly admitting no prior rights. It is surprising the dexterity with which the little people have learned to look after themselves in the perils of highway travel.

There is no special driving ability required of these perils of highway travel.

There is no special driving ability required of these myriad truck drivers. There are no restrictions of their hours of labor. It is doubtful if their scale of pay is in any way commensurate with the responsibility which they must carry. The bus drivers are fewer in number, and are said to be carefully selected for their driving skill. But again it is doubtful if their wages, or their hours of exacting labor are regulated by their heavy responsibilities in the safeguarding of human life. The same standard of efficiency required of a railroad engineer, should be effective amongst those who operate heavy vehicles on the public highway. Regulations have been issued from

High School Corner

(Edited by the Principal)

"Our passage from age to age has revealed a continually widening expanse, not only of the earth-space that man unitely controls, but of the scope of his collective thought, till, in our day, he knows by personal visit nearly the whole globe and encircles it with his activities, while his thought has gone further than Newton or Galileo would have ventured, and analyses the stars, as well as describes the dance of the infinitesimal. Note, then, one of the most striking of those apparent contradictions which often meet us and make us almost ready, with Hagel, to believe in the identity of opposites. It is precisely this man, with his most developed powers, with his scope of vision transcending the boldest fiction, with his knowledge and force embracing the world, who is for the first time in history profoundly interested and passionately attached to the smallest and weakest embodiment of the human spirit, the child in the earliest moments of his life."—Marvin.

time to time, in an effort to ensure the safety of the highway public, but apparently other rules are necessary, particularly in the matter of parked trucks. Bad lighting, inadequate danger signals and other weaknesses have been responsible for accidents and have shown that much stricter regulations than at present exist are necessary.

There is no disposition on the part of this paper, or the general public to criticize the action of either truck

(Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Government Buildings, Edmonton, Saturday, November 18, 1933.)

Auto Fatalities in Alberta

In a bulletin issued recently by the federal bureau of statistics, Alberta is shown to be the second lowest among eight provinces in percentage of motor fatalities. Quebec provinces is highest with more than 18 per cent of fatalities to each 100 cars registered. On this basis, New Brunswick appears second highest with a percentage of more than 17, while Nova Scotia's percentage is over 12, Ontario's 9 per cent, British Columbia 9 per cent, Alberta 5.46 per cent and Saskatchewan 3.73 per cent.

Alberta Master Farmers

Congratulations are due to two farmers of the Edmonton district for having been awarded the Master Farmer's Medal for Alberta for 1933. The farmers who have won this distinction this year are Mr. Charles Ellett, who farms 2 miles south-east of Edmonton, and Mr. W. S. Walker, who farms about the same distance west of Edmonton. The master farmer movement came to Western Canada some years ago through the medium of the Nor-West Farmer of Winnipeg, and a number of Alberta farmers have been awarded the medals, which are given to those farmers who in the opinion of the judges have been outstandingly successful as farmers and citizens. The winners for 1933 have been residents of Alberta for many years. Mr. Ellett, who in his youth was a jewelry salesman in London, England, homesteaded on his present farm location nearly fifty years ago. Mr. Walker, a native of Aberdeenshire, Scotland, came to Western Canada in 1906, and has built up a fine farm house at Lethbridge, near Edmonton.

Coal Production

Production of coal in Alberta for the month of September totalled 437,141 tons, an increase of 4,258 tons from the same month of 1932. The total production for the nine months to the end of September for this year was 2,924,326 tons compared with 2,459,224 tons for the same period of 1932.

Successful Bacon Meetings
Farmers in general are showing a keen interest in the meetings now being held throughout this part of Alberta to promote the better bacon hog movement. The Western Canadian bacon industry has been inaugurated by the provincial department of agriculture in medium of the Nor-West Farmer of ment, the railways and the packers. The gatherings are being largely attended, and the demand for information is such as to indicate a strong desire on the part of the farmers to do their part in raising the percentage of select bacon type hogs produced in Alberta. Stress is being laid on the point that it is not increase of numbers that is needed, but a greater proportion of high quality hogs such as are suitable for the British market.

Two New Noxious Weeds

Two new weeds have been added to the official list of noxious weeds of Alberta. These are the Leafy Spurge and the Hoary Cress.

Grain Exhibits at Chicago and Toronto

Alberta exhibitors in the grain classes at Chicago and Toronto this fall will not be as numerous as in former years, but they will offer some strong competition nevertheless. At Chicago, there will be about 60 entries, including 22 in the wheat classes and 14 in the oats classes. Only one former wheat champion, Joseph Smith of Wolf Creek, is exhibiting there this year, but a number of junior grain club members have entered the Chicago ring with high hopes.

At Toronto there will be 26 entries in the grain classes, including 15 in the junior club member, Paul Sebastian of Wenlock, who at Toronto, won the Canadian championship in oats.

Alberta Poultry for the British Market

A considerable quantity of Alberta poultry will be exported to the British market this fall, it is reported by the provincial poultry department. Supplies are now being gathered together for a shipment during the week of November 24, which it is hoped will amount to about eight carloads. The poultry is being obtained largely from Southern Alberta points, and it is interesting to note, will include a car of geese. Last year, about one million pounds of Canadian poultry were exported to the British market, a quantity of which came from Alberta.

Warm November Weather

Alberta has been experiencing a sort of second Indian Summer during the past week, with very high temperatures at many points. The snow which came in the latter part of October has almost entirely disappeared in many places, and reports come from Southern Alberta that the cattle are once more on grass, and maximum temperatures there reached as high as 60 degrees early in the week. However, such warm weather is not entirely unusual for Alberta, for the records of the past ten years show

NEGLECT OF COMMON CONSTIPATION IS A SERIOUS MATTER

Prevent This Condition With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The first question your doctor asks is whether you are constipated or not. He knows that this condition may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. It is often the starting point of serious disease.

You can prevent and relieve common constipation so easily. Just eat a delicious cereal once a day. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that found in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this "cereal way" safer and far more pleasant than taking patent medicines—so often harmful? Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

some very high November temperatures during that period, as well as some quite low ones, of course. At Edmonton, in four of the ten years, the November maximum temperature was over 60 degrees, with a high record of 74 degrees in 1931. The average mean temperature for November in the ten years at Edmonton was 24 degrees. At Calgary, the ten-year record shows seven years in which the thermometer passed the 60 degree mark during November, with an average mean temperature for November during the ten years of 28 degrees. Lethbridge also had seven years in the past ten in which the mercury rose above 60 degrees in November, and its average mean temperature for November for the ten year period was 31.

Alberta Wheat Crop

A bulletin has just been issued by the dominion bureau of statistics which gives the bureau's final estimate of the Alberta wheat crop for the season of 1933 to be 95,100,000 bushels, as compared with 161,000,000 bushels for 1932.

Marketing Grain Through Poultry
Marketing grain through the poultry route would mean better than dollar wheat for the farmers who have poultry flocks, even at present poultry prices, according to the provincial poultry commissioner. In a recent bulletin on the finishing of poultry on the farm. A report of F. C. Ethel, dominion poultry husbandman, given at the world grain congress last summer, stated that experiments had shown that it takes 28 pounds of mixed grain, wheat, oats and barley, to grow a 6½ pound Barred Rock cockerel. In other words, 4½ pounds of grain can be converted into one pound of chicken meat. On the basis of the present price of nine cents a pound for No. 1 chicken, 100 pounds of grain fed to good poultry for meat purposes would have a value of $1.50, or at the rate of $1.15 a bushel for wheat, 93 cents a bushel for barley and 65 cents a bushel for oats.

SCHOOL FESTIVAL WORK TO BE BROADCAST BY U. OF A.
At the request of the Central Alberta Association for School and Musical Festivals, the Dept. of Extension of the University of Alberta is arranging a one-hour broadcast for teachers and children interested in School Festival work. It is felt that many teachers in the rural districts are severely handicapped when it comes to training the pupils for choruses and dramatization work. Therefore, a little expert training, short both of these lines should be invaluable.

The broadcasts will be on Saturday mornings, from 10 to 11 a.m., commencing on Saturday, Dec. 2nd, and will continue until Feb. 17th, omitting the Saturdays during the Christmas vacation—Dec. 23 and 24—making 10 broadcasts in all. The first half-hour each Saturday will be devoted to singing, under the direction of Mr. Vernon Barford. Teachers are urged to gather their pupils at some convenient place where there is a radio so that they can actually join in the singing of the choruses under Mr. Barford's direction. Towards the end of the series the actual Festival songs will be practised. If some teachers find it impossible to get their pupils together they will find the lessons given by Mr. Barford of great assistance, even though the children cannot join in.

The second half-hour will be used by Mrs. N. W. Haynes for dramatization work. She will take a small play suitable for rural school production, and take up the direction of it point by point. These ten talks of hers will be followed later in the season by meetings with the teachers in the various inspectorates.

Severe Pains in His Back So Bad Could Hardly Move

Mrs. Errol Hamilton, R. R. 1, Cataragui, Ont., writes:—"My husband had been suffering, for a whole year, from severe pains in his back and they were so bad at times he could hardly move. He tried many different remedies, but got no relief. I was told to get Doan's Kidney Pills for him, which I did, and he has never been bothered since, and his kidneys work fine."

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Perminit (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises, closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

So Bad With Her Nerves
Became Sickly and Run Down

Mrs. D. Carlson, Lilleas, Man., writes:—"Six years ago I was very bad with my nerves and became sickly and run down. A friend told me about Milburn's H. & N. Pills, so I decided to use them. After taking one box I felt some benefit, so I continued until I had taken five boxes, and I can truthfully say I never felt as good as I do now. I sleep well, my appetite is good; I put on flesh; gone is the tired, worn out feeling."

DRESSED POULTRY

ANNOUNCEMENT

We will commence buying dressed turkeys after December 1st. Prices are not yet established, but it is expected they will be a little better than last season.

BUYERS DO NOT WANT UNFINISHED BIRDS and are therefore leaving the buying season as late as possible. In the meantime it is advisable for poultry raisers to get their stock well fattened and in good marketable condition.

BIRD OF "A" GRADE will bring the highest price. Weight will not be essential but quality will be everything.

To get this grade it is necessary, first to have birds well fattened. Then, they must be properly handled and dressed. Before killing they must be well starved. This is very necessary as anything left in the crop may mean having the bird reduced to "C" grade. It is alright to give them clean drinking water, but absolutely nothing to eat for at least 24 hours. They must be dry picked, and all feather removed, except the fan on the wing. All other feathers must be off. Pin feathers must be carefully removed.

WHEN KILLING, see that birds are properly bled. Do not hold the neck or hang a weight from it or do anything to obstruct the free run of the blood. Weight may be hung from beak. Birds should not be piled up, but laid out separately until cool. Do not let freeze.

REMEMBER—Poultry should be well fattened, well bled, well dressed, well cooled and well marketed if taken to

in the

British Bacon Market

For the first time in history the World's Greatest Bacon Market has granted a definite quota to Canadian Bacon Producers, under Controlled Imports to Assure a Steady Market. Canada's quota is 250,000,000 lbs. annually.

The Key to This Market is Quality

Alberta was second in 1932 among all provinces in total hog marketings, but only eight hogs in every 100 marketed were suitable for the British trade.

Not More Hogs, but Better Hogs

What is needed is not greater numbers, but a greater proportion of the Select Bacon Type required by the British Market.

Policies to Encourage Production of High Quality Bacon Hogs Suitable for Overseas, have been adopted by the Alberta Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Federal Government, Railways and Packers. These include hog housing and exchange of off-type sows by the farmers for selected gilts from the packing plants.
